Firka Development Dept. II.

NOTE ON COTTAGE AND VILLAGE INDUSTRIES.

The first attempt to develop cottage industries on an organized basis was made towards the end of 1946 when the Government approved a scheme for the development of these industries in the selected firkas as an integral part of the Intensive Rural Reconstruction scheme. This scheme envisaged the promotion of 32 cottage industries by the starting of about 200 demonstration and training units in the different parts of the province to give training to local worker in up-to-date methods of manufacture. By experience it was found that the scheme of 1946 was ambitious and demanded trained personnel and a very efficient administrative machinery to ensure effective supervision and co-ordination. Government therefore approved a reorganised scheme providing for the employment of mater-craftsmen in the units and giving them freedom to bring out the best of themselves in their own way and the conversion of the demonstration and training units formed under the scheme of 1946 into production-cum-training centres under the management of non-official agencies like co-operative societies, limited companies and partnerships. Government have so far approved the transfer of about 22 units of cottage industries to private parties. Though the reorganisation scheme of 1948 envisages the conversion of all the units of 1946 into improved production centres, it is found that this will not be of much help to the development of the village industries in general. A comprehensive scheme providing for the free distribution of models of improved labour-saving tools and implements to enterprising village artisans in selected areas has been recently sanctioned. Steps will also be taken to supply at cost price the raw materials estimated at Rs.12 lakhs required by the artisans. A model centre of village industries for demonstrating the results achieved by the scheme, for organising courses of training and for undertaking surveys and researches connected with village industries is also proposed to be set up under the scheme. The scheme involves a recurring expenditure of Rs.1,33,900 on running the centre of village industries and for the employment of the staff and a net non-recurring expenditure of Rs.6 lakhs on buildings and equipments.

A delegation sponsored by the Govt. of India visited Japan recently to study the cottage and small scale industries and have purchased some machinery and secured the services of some Japanese technicians. The Govt. of India have installed the machinery near Delhi where a vocational training centre has been functioning. The technicians will help to have the machinery installed and see its initial working. They are also expected to train Indian workmen to run it. This Govt. are considering the question of sending some officers including technical subordinates of the Industries Department to the centre for studying the Japanese industries and for undergoing the training in the operation of the Japanese machines. The Govt. hope to take up a few of the important industries like toy-making, bamboo article manufacture, tin making, etc. for development on the Japanese model in this province. The question of purchase of the machinery required from Japan will also be taken up.

A scheme for the development of bee-keeping is also being considered by the Govt. Under this scheme bee-hives will be supplied to the interested villagers in the firkas selected for rural reconstruction on a subsidised basis.

It has also been considered necessary to associate the local non-officals in the efforts of the Govt. for the development of some of the important cottage industries. To this end it is proposed to constitute Advisory Boards for certain important local industries including the match manufacture, palmyra leaf industry, the tanning and leather goods industry Representation on the Board will be given to the artisans in the industry concerned and to local non-officials. The Boards will advise the Govt. as to the measures to be taken for the development of the various industries.

Besides the above, it is also proposed to indtroduce Sri Viswesvarayya's scheme for industrialisation of rural areas. This scheme aims at the development of industries in every part of the country and increase of production and income from them by encouraging growth of the spirit of self-help, initiative and ambition in the rural population by giving it an opportunity to acquire higher co-operative knowledge, skill and practice in industry. The proposals are confined to rural industrialistation by the formation of village group areas of 15to 20 villages with a population ranging between 10,000 to 20,000 and the constitution of Development committees for these units composed of the most competent businessmen and leaders obtainable in the areas. These committees will be responsible working agencies using their influence to induce residents of the locality concerned to start new industries and increase production and value of commodities produced from the existing industries. The Committees will be guided by Govt. agents and will publish annual statistics of production. The scheme will be introduced in two districts to begin with.

The question of the extension of the scheme to all the other districts will be taken up after sufficient experience is gained in its working. The scheme is under the consideration of the Govt. and if approved will be complementary to the scheme for the development of village industries recently sanctioned by the Govt. and referred to in paragraph one above.

It is hoped that the implementation of the various schemes mentioned above will go a long way to raise the standard of living of the rural population both socially and economically and also increase the production of consumer goods.

Under Demand XXI provision has been made for the expenditure on the following scheme among others which have already been sanctioned by the Govt. in addition to the revised scheme mentioned in para one above.

(a) The Govt. Coir School at Beypore is being continued. 80 students are now receiving training in the various processes of coir manufacture in the school.

(b) a Coir Industrial School is functioning in the Visakhapatnam district (Uddanam tract) to teach the members of the Fisherman community in improved methods of coir Industry.

(c) Four touring Tanning and Demonstration parties for demonstrating the improved methods of the tanning Industry are working in the various centres of the province.

(d) Govt. have sanctioned in June 1948 the opening of a Ceramic School at Gudur to train students in pottery, Refractories, and glass and Enamel Technologies. The school is expected to begin functioning soon.

(e) The Training Centre at Kalahasti in Chittoor District opened in 1945 is being continued. Opening of two more similar centres one for the West-Coast and another for the Tamilnad has been recently sanctioned. Govt. have also sanctioned in May 1949 the establishment of a Block glass plant at Gudur to supply Block glass, the essential raw material required for the industry. The factory is expected to commence functioning by 1951.
